

The following prophecy was given thru Lynne Hammond on February 7, 1993:

"For I said you'd be changed in My presence," saith the Lord. "If you've not experienced change in your life, if your old ways are still prevailing, if your old man is still in evidence, you've not spent the time with Me that I desire and that will bring change to your life."

"It isn't a matter of self control or disciplining your flesh with no help from Me," saith God. "I have said if you'll spend time in My presence, you will be changed. Your pattern of life will be changed; your old man will begin to pass away; your new man will begin to rise in the image of My Son; your life will begin to bear much fruit. The evidence of your walk with Me will change as a result of spending much time in My presence."

"If you're having trouble getting rid of an old habit, if you're having trouble with your marriage, if your marriage isn't changing, if your family relationships aren't changing, you're not spending the time with Me," saith God, "that would enable that change to come to pass. Your desire and the motivation of your heart to walk uprightly before Me is a product of becoming so close to Me that you do not want to bring hurt to Me. You want to do right, just as you would some one you love in the natural. You don't want to do anything that would hurt them."

Well, as you spend time with Me," saith God, "as you spend time in My presence, we'll develop a relationship that's closer than any earthly relationship. It will be something that shapes the pattern of your living. You'll want to conform your ways to My Word simply because it's the desire of your heart. Your life will change, but it's a product of your spending time with Me," saith God. "Time with Me," saith God. "Time with Me," saith the Lord.
